123456 and Password take the top spots in SplashData's annual list of the 25 most common internet passwords - or the "worst passwords" you could possibly choose to protect your data.

SplashData compiled its list from more than two million leaked passwords during 2015.

Pop culture makes its mark on the list, with "starwars," "solo," and "princess" making the top 25 for the first time. But perhaps more troubling is the debut of "welcome", "login" and "passw0rd".
